FIRST MEETING OF THE OHIO M. E. CONFERENCE HELD TUESDAY EVENING

Devoted to Interests of Anti-Saloon League and Number of Addresses
Were Delivered by League
Officials

FOUR HUNDRED DELEGATES ARE IN ATTENDANCE

Addresses of Welcome Wednesday Morning Responded to by Bishop Earl Cranston---Anniversary of Woman's Missionary Society
Held This Afternoon---Church Extensive Board and Home Missions This Evening.

The first open session of the Ohio conference was held on Tuesday evening in the First Methodist church. In attendance are about 400 delegates, ministers and laymen, representing the 300 churches of this conference, which will remain in session until Monday evening.

The opening meeting was devoted to the interests of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League. The chairman of the evening was Rev. J. C. Jackson, D. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of London, O. On the platform besides the speakers was Dr. Levi Gilbert of Cincinnati, editor of the Western Christian Advocate, who conducted devotional exercises.

Before introducing the speakers the chairman, Dr. Jackson, spoke of the intent and purpose of the meeting, urging the necessity of a militant attitude for the modern church which would be of service to its community and of the applicability of the doctrines of social service to the question in hand.

He then introduced the first speaker, Hon. James A. White, attorney for the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, whose quick wit, keen, analytical reasoning and easy familiarity with his subject, quickly won his audience. Mr. White first won distinction as reform mayor of Barnesville, O., and since his term of office has been constantly prominent in public activities and reform movements. A prominent Methodist, he has twice been chosen as delegate to the quadrennial general conference, the greatest legislative body of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The people of Ohio, he said, are fast forgetting the wet and dry question, and the present day problem is simply that of law enforcement or non-enforcement. Recent decisions of the supreme court of Ohio have offered the final interpretations which, from a legal point of view, have already fought and won with the people. Similar decisions favorable to the cause, have been expressed by the supreme courts of Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois, Maryland and other states. We have now in Ohio more mayors than ever before who reverence their oath of office—more city and county officials who are awake to the need of law enforcement. The lawless man is no working factor in the government of the community; what we need most is a localized patriotism. We need to catch the spirit of the battlefield, the spirit which will stand up and be counted, even when it costs something.

The speaker went on to a discussion of circumstances attending the passage of the Rose county local option law and of later contention for prohibition in legislation. He urged recognition of patriotism against partisanship—the demands for home protection, civic decency and better manhood. He pleaded for an understanding, non-sectarian union of Christian sentiment that would crystallize into a power of righteousness for the uplift of humanity.

resultant largely from recent action of the West Virginia legislature, tending toward constitutional prohibition. Of the 55 counties of the state, 39 are now dry, with actual law enforcement. In most of these counties, prohibition is long standing and a settled condition, but this territory of wondrous industrial richness is to be the scene of a great struggle, for which the only solution will be state-wide prohibition. With great earnestness, heightened by occasional reference to some of the humorous phases of the situation, he declared that the situation in Ohio was bound to be wonderfully influenced by conditions in her neighboring state, especially along the border counties and towns. He described at some length circumstances incident to the passing of favorable legislative measures, and urged that.

cratic congressmen, are participating. The congressman stated at the meeting that they were reflecting the sentiment of national Democratic leaders, and that Ohio Democracy will be censured if it permits the next congressional election to be held under the present Republican gerrymander and then it happened that the Republicans secured control of congress by but a few votes. After a reapportionment bill has been agreed upon a Democratic caucus will be called and asked to ratify it. The session is not expected to consume more than three or four days.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF SOUTH SIDE ASSOCIATION HELD TUESDAY EVENING

At last night's meeting of the South Side Citizens' Association it was decided to recommend to the city council the employment of Metzger and Simpson, consulting engineers of Columbus, as assistants to City Engineer Wells in the matter of the proposed elimination of the grade crossings from Second street to Sixth street.

This action was taken when the association adopted a motion offered by William A. Veatch. Mr. Veatch suggested that such a recommendation be made and that the association agree to provide the funds to pay for the services of the engineers providing there was no appropriation by the city council that could be used for this purpose.

Mr. Veatch explained that the appropriations for the last six months of 1911 had already been made and that it was possible that the city had no available funds that could be used for that purpose. If such was the case, it would be necessary for the South Side people to furnish the money in order to be assured that the work would be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Veatch offered the further explanation that City Engineer Wells had requested that this firm be employed as they were possessed of much valuable experience in this particular line of work and would be of great service in dealing with the road engineers as the latter are experts in engineering work of this nature. It was the desire of the city engineer to be fortified with experienced help in his next consultation with the railroad representatives.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 o'clock by William E. Miller as presiding officer. In opening the meeting, Mr. Miller stated that this was a called meeting and that its object was to appraise the members of the association as to what progress had been made in the work outlined.

Mr. Miller stated that the South Side was practically assured of a new bridge over the river at Second street as engineers for the county commissioners were already on the ground taking measurements with a view of advising the commissioners what would be necessary and advisable in the way of a bridge at this point.

He also called attention to the fact that engineers for the two railroad companies interested in the grade crossing elimination had been in the city conferring with the city engineer with reference to the plans for the proposed subways, which indicated that the labor of the South Side citizens had not been in vain and that the railroads were taking cognizance of the action of the city council in passing the ordinance for the proposed improvement.

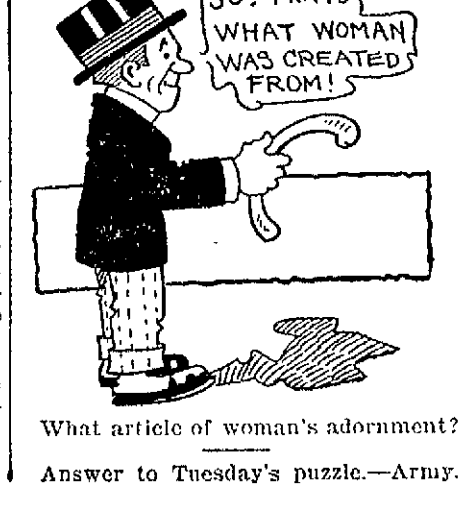

The chairman in his remarks urged on the members of the association the necessity of diplomacy in its dealings with the railroads and the city and county officials. He called attention to the fact that it was not the wish of the association to antagonize either the railroads or the officials and that more could be accomplished by working hand in hand with those in power. With these remarks as a starter, a general discussion of South Side conditions followed and many matters for the betterment of that part of Newark south of the railroads, were brought to the attention of the meeting and discussed.

The matter of raising Second street some 12 or 15 inches and the construction of the bridge at this point were also discussed. The condition of the streets all over the South End was mentioned and it was suggested that members of the association appeal to Service Director Christian for relief.

The streets in the Franklin Addition, particularly Prospect street and Galtner avenue, were cited as "horrible examples," owing to the recent excavations there for water works pipe. The attention of Director Christian will be called to this street and he will be asked to afford some relief to that section of the city for the coming winter.

One speaker stated that this street was in an impassable condition last winter from improperly filled water trenches and that the prospect for a repetition of this condition this winter were very good. The speaker took occasion to "take a nap" at the manner in which certain work had been done, in which another speaker offered the suggestion that conditions which now prevail were better than when the city was under the three-men-board of service of several years ago.

WHAT IS IT?

What article of woman's adornment? Answer to Tuesday's puzzle.—ARMY.

was under the three-men-board of service of several years ago. At the meeting Tuesday evening, there were many residents from the north side of the railroad who have become interested in the projects of the South Side Association and they spoke in warm terms of the loyalty of the residents of that section to their end of town. In each case the projects of the association were commended and the speakers wished the organization much success in the execution of their plans.

The presence of these men and their approval of the objects of the organization is an indication that the entire city is with the South Side in their fight for better conditions south of the railroad.

Another speaker, evidently from the West Side, called attention to the fact that through the efforts of the South Side Association crossing watchmen had been placed on duty at Pine and Williams street and that warning bells were soon to be installed, something that the West End has wanted and asked for during the last decade. The speaker thanked the association on behalf of the West End for accomplishing this much for that end of town.

This action on the part of the association indicates that they are not blind to the interests of other portions of the city and that the members are willing to co-operate with the rest of the city for the general improvement of Newark.

Among those who addressed the meeting, besides the chairman, Mr. Miller, were E. M. Baugher, W. A. Veatch, W. H. Knauss, Dr. Priest, G. W. Horton, Messrs. Charles Stasel, Elmer, Ashbrook, Metz, Stare, Dyer, Hosenberger, Parkinson and others.

WILD FANATICS IMPALE BABES ON THEIR LANCES

Mexico City, Sept. 27.—From the far away state of Chiapas comes the report of a man having suffered the fate of the malefactors of antiquity at the hands of fanatical Indians, who are terrorizing a vast district in that part of Mexico.

Venceslao Franco, a resident of Acala, a small town in the Chiapas, was crucified by the rebellious Chiapas Indians when they sacked that place last Saturday, according to telegrams received by El Imparcial last night from Tuxtla Gutierrez, the state capital.

Franco's wife and others, who brought the story of the crucifixion to Tuxtla Gutierrez, also told tales of horrible barbarities committed by the half savage hordes in Chiapas. Women and children have suffered most, the savages making gruesome sport of pitching the babes high in the air and catching them on their lances.

A leader of one of the fanatical mobs was a priest, who himself was killed.

Franco's wife was stabbed seven times and left for dead.

Semi-officially it is stated a military governor, probable General Jose de la Luz Blanco of revolutionary fame, will be sent to Chiapas to restore order.

Another uprising reported is led by a man called "Nayarith" in the territory of Tepic.

Emiliano Zapata and Andres Almazan, the rebels who have been terrorizing the southern part of Morelos and a part of Puebla, have sent a letter to General Huerta, in Chihuahua, asking on what terms their surrender will be accepted.

MILLIONS REAPED BY INSIDERS

Made Raid On Steel Stocks
After Government Policy
Was Announced

PALATIAL MORGAN HOME

Used Last Night for Conference of Directors Who Announce Trust Will Not Dissolve.

New York, Sept. 27.—The future of the United States Steel Corporation is the profound problem in Wall street. The attitude of the department of justice of the federal government, which was used last week by a coterie of "insiders" as the basis for a raid on steel stocks by which something like several hundred millions in profits have been garnered, is as much a mystery today as it was then.

When Wall street heard that J. Pierpont Morgan, the financial father of the Steel Corporation, attended the meeting of the finance committee of that company, which is a very unusual thing for him to do, and that he was accompanied by Francis Lynde Stetson, chief of the legal corps of the Steel Trust, the stock market was changed from a decline into buoyancy and values began to climb.

That the directors of the Steel Corporation regard their company as a legal organization and one for the "benefit of the public interest," and therefore they will not take voluntary steps to dissolve the big company, was formally settled in a statement given out shortly before midnight last night after a conference in the library of J. Pierpont Morgan's palatial home. This statement declares that the company has "scrupulously observed the law," and that it has been advised by its counsel that it is not in violation of the Sherman act, "as interpreted in recent decisions of the supreme court."

On top of all these uncertainties the Wall Street Journal yesterday electrified the financial community with a printed statement in which it intimated that the "arrest and prosecution of J. Pierpont Morgan for his part in placing the steel manufacturing business of this country in a commanding position would be disastrous upon American business credit throughout the civilized world."

The standing of the Wall Street Journal as a reliable financial publication makes this statement all the more interesting, and there is a general disposition to regard it as inspired. The tremendous effect of such action upon the part of the federal government cannot be measured and shrewd financiers see a significant purpose in the publication at this time.

Just who got the $100,000,000 or so of profits that are being scooped up as a result of the big bear raid on United States Steel Corporation stocks the latter part of the week is the interesting topic of the financial district. That the raid was one of the most successful "squeezes" put over within the shadow of Trinity church in many moons is now evident, and that those who engineered the scheme are some of the big "insiders" in the great Steel Trust is common knowledge.

Within three days at least $30,000,000 out of the total shrinkage in stock values of $250,000,000 have been coined for a relatively small number of men in the Wall street district, on the market reason that the financial leaders do not know what will be done by the federal government.

WORK ENJOINED BY GAS COMPANY ON PIKE ROAD

The public highway between Granville and Summit Station, known as the old Columbus road, was selected by the county commissioners as one of the first roads in the county to be improved under the road improvement law and work was commenced on the improvement some time ago and continued until Tuesday night, when the Columbus Natural Gas Company secured a temporary injunction restraining the county commissioners from interfering with its pipe line used in conveying natural gas.

The gas company states that the county commissioners have let a contract for the construction of a pipe on the highway mentioned to Perdue & Schwartz, and that they threaten to tear up the pipe line of plaintiff, to its great and irreparable damage, unless enjoined by the court. Plaintiff says that it is ready and willing to change the location of any pipes so far as may be necessary for improvement of the highway.

An order of temporary injunction was issued, bond $500, restraining defendants from interfering with the pipe line.

Wednesday morning an Advocate reporter called at the office of the county commissioners and had an interview with Commissioner S. I. Tatham regarding the matter. Mr. Tatham said:

"Over two weeks ago the commissioners notified the Columbus Natural Gas Company to remove its pipe from its present location along the road and gave it the privilege of placing the pipe on what is known as the five-foot berm bank. This proposition, at the time, seemed to be perfectly satisfactory to the company, and it went to work and removed the earth from the top of the pipe on its present location for a distance of about a mile, and also dug a new ditch along the berm bank, where agreed upon, for the same distance.

"For some reason or other, probably because it had been advised that this would cost too much money, it refused to remove the pipe to the new location.

"Monday Fenwick Ewing, a representative of the gas company, came to Newark, saw the county commissioners and asked them for the privilege of placing the pipe along the first berm bank, along the edge of the limestone. The commissioners were unable to accede to his request, whereupon the company had its men fill in the ditch they had already dug, and took the men away.

"On Tuesday the commissioners instructed the contractors, Purdum & Schwartz, to remove the earth from the pipe and move the pipe out of the road, which was followed by the company setting out the injunction.

"The county commissioners feel that it is their duty to look to the future of the road as well as the present and thereby preventing the tearing up of the road.

"The action of the gas company in enjoining the commissioners has had the effect of stopping all work on the improvement, and nothing can now be done until the injunction is dissolved. The commissioners do not feel that it is the right thing to build this pipe with the pipe in its present location."

NEGRO CHAMP GOES BROKE IN LONDON

JACK'S TROUBLES ALL COME AT ONCE AND ON EVE OF BATTLE WITH WELLS.

Pawned His Diamonds and Racing Car and Has Trouble With White Wife in Paris Cafe.

London, Sept. 27.—Jack Johnson is broke. The heavyweight champion, who quit the ring at Reno a little over a year ago, after he had whipped Jim Jeffries, a hundred thousand dollars to the good, and who has been making money nearly ever since, could not, apparently, as predicted by many close observers, stand prosperity, and is now facing the problem of "financial straits." It is admitted that the negro is broke and this is the main reason of his great anxiety that there be no interference in his fight with Bombardier Wells next week.

It was learned from Johnson's trainer, Cutler, who also told Tex Rickard and others, that Johnson has been forced to pawn his motor car and his diamonds before recently leaving Paris to come to London for the fight. Johnson is reduced to such a penniless condition that he is unable to pay his manager, trainer, valet, secretary, or his wife's maid. Also, it is known that he could only buy them third class tickets from Paris to London and traveled second class with his wife, instead of first class, as is customary.

Discussing the matter, Tex Rickard said: "It is true. I have no reason to doubt it. He looks very seedy. He has spent $120,000 since fighting Jeffries. This sum was the champion's share of the winnings in addition to receipts from theatrical engagements."

Trainer Cutler admitted that he had received no money for recent services. He tried to get some this week, but Jack pleaded with him to wait until after the fight. Since coming to London he has also dismissed his valet. He looks in much better physical condition than before going to Paris to train, but he has lost his amiable air and seems very much depressed.

It is the talk of his associates that he has been going a lively pace. It is also reported that he has had many quarrels with his white wife, the last occurring in a Paris cafe, when she declared he did not pay enough attention to her and he slapped her face. The fight officials admit that he has put his last penny in his belt and that he will be greatly worried for ready cash if the fight is declared off.

TO CUT TIMBER IN ARIZONA

Few people are aware that Arizona, the very name of which suggests a treeless desert, has on the contrary the largest and finest forest still standing in the United States. A large part of the state is bare, but a considerable portion is covered with magnificent standing timber. A big hole in this will be made by the proposed sale by the United States government of 600,000 board feet, nine-tenths of it yellow pine, chiefly from the Apache and Sigrist national forests. But this is merely a clearing out for further cuttings which it is estimated will come to 1-1-2 billions of board feet.

It takes more than a dentist to fill a long-felt want.

DOC CARSON FINDS PURCHASERS WARY OF BIRTH IN PORTABLE LEAGUE.

Directors Sell Players of Newark and Evansville Clubs—Murray Goes To Wheeling.

Dayton, Sept. 27.—After being in session from 9 o'clock yesterday morning the Central League directors adjourned last night without disposing of the Newark or South Bend franchise. It was agreed to hold these for bids, and a meeting will likely be held at an early date in a city named by President Carson. The regular January meeting will be held in Grand Rapids. The six clubs purchased the players of the Newark and South Bend teams, and nothing but the bare franchise will go to the new magnates. The players were purchased as follows:

Dayton: Donovan and Tennant; Terre Haute: Snyder, Markham, J. Parker and Gilbert; Grand Rapids: Hadley, Hale, C. Parker and Taylor; Wheeling: Byrnes, Bemis and Murray; Ft. Wayne: Goldrick; Zanesville, Pendry.

Dayton was officially awarded the pennant for the season of 1911.

An effort will be made to bring Springfield and Akron into the league, but this must be decided by the meeting of the National Commission in San Antonio, Tex., next November.

FORWARD PASS RULE CHANGED

The 1911 football season promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the game. The new rules reduced the number of accidents to a minimum last year, and the rules as now modified promise to practically eliminate all danger of players being hurt.

There have been no radical changes made in the rules from those of last year. A simplified wording of the old rules is about all that has been done.

It was the forward pass that came in for the most attention from the rule-makers, and there is much speculation as to whether in its new dressing it will be a success.

According to the new rules a forward pass is illegal when the player receiving it fails to hold on to the ball.

When a forward pass is declared illegal it will be returned to the place where it was originally put into play. The same goes on an uncompleted forward pass, which is one that hits the ground before being touched by any player on either side.

This year when a player catches a forward pass the players on the defensive can tackle him as soon as he catches the ball. Under the rules last year he had to wait till the man took at least two steps. There was much confusion and argument as to whether or not the rusher had taken two steps when the tackle was made.

Another important change in the code is that which lessens the time between quarters. Last year the players were obliged to wait so long before resuming play that they became thoroughly chilled, their muscles stiffening and preventing them from putting up their best game.

Now the teams will only pause long enough between quarters to permit of their changing goals.

In the future the umpire will keep time instead of the head linesman.

In the past, when a captain wanted to call a halt, he had to go to the side lines in order to post the linesman, so time could be taken out. The head linesman will also judge all outside plays, instead of only those made by ends, as heretofore.

The rules also provide a penalty for the player resorting to the trick of concealing the ball and such artifices, which do not demonstrate any real football ability. It was on a play where he had the ball hidden under his jersey that Hudson, the Carlisle player, won from Harvard at Cambridge some years ago.

Followers of the game are of the opinion that this will prove the most interesting season in years, and that the new rules will demonstrate that they are good and sane. There will be more big games played than ever before.

S.S.S. for the BLOOD

There have been many new "blood remedies" placed upon the market since S. S. S. came into existence more than forty years ago. A great many of these were "fads" for a short period, some were introduced as "miraculous wonder workers," while others claimed to have the endorsement of the scientific world. But they failed in the real test and were unable to accomplish results credited to them, so one by one they have passed out of existence.

How different is the record of S. S. S.; this medicine has succeeded because it possesses merit; it cures blood diseases because it is a real blood purifier, composed of the most active and reliable ingredients. The length of time S. S. S. has been on the market, and the fact that more of it is manufactured and sold each succeeding year, proves its genuine worth beyond question.

S. S. S. is especially successful in the treatment of that peculiar blood disease so dreaded by humanity because of its stubborn nature and distressing symptoms. So intense is the virus of this trouble that it quickly permeates the entire blood supply, and usually produces such symptoms as ulcerated mouth and throat, brown spots on the skin, gradual loss of hair, pains in the limbs, skin eruptions, etc. S. S. S. has cured many thousands of the most aggravated cases; and it always cures permanently. It goes down into the blood and removes all germs, virus and poisons, and one who has been cured by the use of S. S. S. need not fear any future breaking out of the malady.

No other medicine acts with such satisfactory results in these cases as S. S. S. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, each of which possesses blood purifying and tonic properties. This medicine takes hold of the disease at once by going directly into the circulation, and beginning the necessary work of driving the powerful virus from the blood. S. S. S. is thorough in its service; it leaves no trace of the old trouble, and when it cures, the blood is in perfect condition. S. S. S. may be used with absolute safety; it will not unpleasantly affect the stomach, bowels, or any other portion of the system. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers and it cures because of this fact. If you are afflicted with this disease do not waste valuable time with experimental medicines, but write for our Instructive Treatment book and let us send you an abundance of proof that S. S. S. is the remedy most certain to cure you. No charge for the book or any special medical advice that may be desired. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

Society

The following from the social columns of a Berlin, Germany, paper will be read with interest as it has to do with a Newark young lady, Miss Elsie Hirschberg, who will soon make her debut on the German stage in opera.

The largest social affair of the week in American circles was an afternoon tea given by Miss Frances McElwee for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ffrench and the Misses Ffrench of Chicago. During the afternoon Miss Elsie Hirschberg, a young mezzo soprano, of Newark, O., who is about to make her operatic debut on the German stage, was heard in the two arias from "Samson and Delilah."

Among those present were: Mrs. Putnam Griswold at the tea table. Among the guests were: The American Consul-General and Mrs. Thackeray, Mme. Johannes Gadsdill, Dr. Engelbert Humperdinck and Frau Humperdinck, Signor and Signora Ferruccio Busoni, Mme. Teresa Carreno, Mr. Alfred Hertz, Wagnerian conductor of the Metropolitan; Mr. and Mrs. William Wade Hinshaw, Mrs. Hanna Butler of Chicago; Mrs. Sprague of New York; Mr. Wilhelm Nidderhede of Chicago; Mrs. S. B. Conger, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Spring, Mrs. Blanche Corbell, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Goldsmith, Mr. Alton Derrick and Mr. Basil Millsbaugh.

The members of the Art Embroidery club will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Parks in Maple avenue, Friday afternoon. Let all members be present. Business of importance.

Mr. and Mrs. Sereno Haynes of Thresher street, Granville, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Monday, October 2, with a post card shower.

The Tuesday Afternoon Thimble Club met on the club day of this week with Mrs. Edward Edwards in Granville street. The hours were merrily whittled away with sewing, after which a dainty luncheon was served. The rooms were prettily decorated with pink and white asters. The guests of the club were Mesdames Wyeth, Barrick, Redman, Davis and Tabler.

MANY WEDDINGS FOR THIS FALL

In the spring the young man's fancy may lightly turn to thoughts of love, but in the fall it is the real thing and the jingle of wedding bells is now heard throughout the land.

That Cupid is very busy in this locality is not only evidenced by the long lists of marriage licenses but by the amount of wedding rings and wedding presents now being sold at the Haynes Bros. Jewelry store at 8 North Park Place. "Three customers in one hour for wedding rings is going some," said one of the accommodating salesmen, "and that's what happened to me." The Tiffany wedding ring seems to be a great favorite. We asked what seemed to be the popular present for wedding and wedding anniversaries and were told that cut glass never failed to be popular, and we could not wonder when shown their magnificent line of this splendid ware.

Mr. Haynes said their two lines of silverware were always in demand for wedding events—the R. Wallace & Sons silverware and the 1817 Rogers—

BIG ROADS WAGE FIGHT OVER FARES

Rivalry Between Hill and Harriman Roads is Brought to a Crisis.

Omaha, Sept. 26.—The old rivalry between the Hill and Harriman railroad systems between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast has broken out afresh and Harriman's Southern Pacific has just dealt Hill's Burlington line a staggering blow by cutting the latter line off from all San Francisco and California traffic. Conditions are such that neither the Interstate Commerce Commission nor the federal courts can interfere in the fight and from all appearances the rival lines will be permitted to settle the affair in their own way. And this time the fight is being waged on the rails, not in the stock market. The entire trans-Mississippi country is the battlefield, instead of the narrow confines of Wall and Broad streets.

Despite the fact that this is the most titanic struggle the western railroad world has known for 25 years, it is being waged so silently that the public is scarcely aware the big rivals are no longer standing together and working harmoniously, as they have done in the past decade. The cause of the fight is the ownership of a simple $2.50 on each ticket sold by the eastern lines to the Pacific Coast, but the effect produced is tremendous. And still greater effects are promised by the generals in command of the campaign.

The situation is complicated by the fact that Hill, in the fight, has the assistance of the big Rock Island railroad, which is in a position similar to Burlington, while Western Pacific, the new Gould road to the Pacific, is aiding Southern Pacific. Union Pacific, main trunk of the Harriman system, is, in the present fracas, only a looker-on and a bystander, and is taking no part in the struggle. However, the latter road is reaping a golden harvest while the other lines scrap among themselves.

In fact, because of the big fight, Union Pacific today is the only road operating through trains between Chicago and San Francisco which traverse the central portion of the country.

The trouble began brewing a year ago when the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered Southern Pacific and other roads to reduce fare from Ogden to the Pacific Coast from $30 to $25, but did not order a reduction of the through fare from Missouri River points to the coast. At that time and for ten years previous thereto, through cars had been operated over Burlington and Rock Island lines as far as Denver, thence over the Rio Grande to Ogden, where they were turned over to the Southern Pacific for the haul to the coast. At that time the roads east and west of Ogden simply cut the rate in two parts, each taking an equal portion. When the Interstate Commerce Commission's new rate was ordered, Southern Pacific demanded that the eastern lines continue to accept the same proportion as formerly accepted, but both the Burlington and the Rock Island lines refused and demanded a higher percentage of the cost of the ticket.

For almost 12 months the traffic officials of the different systems involved have been seeking an adjustment, but last week a crisis was reached and Southern Pacific notified both Burlington and Rock Island system that the cars formerly operated over those roads would be no longer accepted from them and that in future all this traffic would be handled over to Union Pacific, which had made no demand for an increased percentage of the receipts.

Accordingly, both Burlington and Rock Island have been forced to discontinue all through cars to California via Denver and Salt Lake, and the great traffic once enjoyed by those roads is now being hauled by Union Pacific. The two systems which have found their Coast business practically ruined by the arbitrary action of Southern Pacific have not yet found a way to come back at the latter line, but are promising that their next move will make the Harriman people sit up and take notice.

Both Burlington and Rock Island claim that, inasmuch as there through car routes had been in ex-

Little Spice Cakes The housekeeper who has plenty of sour cream at her command can quickly make these delicious little spice cakes. Put together in the order given a half cupful of butter, one cupful and a half of sugar, one-quarter of a teaspoonful each of mace and cloves, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, a scant half teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of thick sour cream, a half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a teaspoonful of warm water, one egg, one-quarter of a cupful of corn starch mixed with one pint of entire wheat flour and one cupful of seeded raisins. Bake this in gem pans in a hot oven.

Boiled Dressing Beat two eggs, add a half cupful of warm water, a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, a quarter of a teaspoonful of sifted dry mustard and four tablespoonfuls of either or tarragon vinegar. Strain over a slow fire in a double boiler until smooth and very thick, add one-quarter of a cupful of butter, stir until it is absorbed, then strain and chill. When needed, thin a portion of the dressing with cream, or stir into it an equal amount of stiffly whipped cream. The latter mixed is especially good with an apple and nut salad.

HEART AND HOME TALKS BY BARBARA BOYD

Harmony a Help to Style.

MANY a woman does not realize just what an important factor harmony is in achieving style. She will see some costume that pleases her because of its air of smartness, and she will take careful note of how the dress is made or the hat trimmed, and go home and make a dress or hat like the one admired; and then wonder why the result is not satisfactory. But if she would study the costume a little more thoroughly, she would see that it is not the way the dress is made or the hat trimmed that alone has given the style, but the harmony of the whole, that is the cause of it.

A woman who aroused much admiring comment one afternoon at Lenox, the fashionable resort in the Berkshires, was gowned, when her costume was analyzed, in quite a simple silk dress, made with the popular narrow skirt and peasant blouse with elbow sleeves. It was white, pencil-striped in dark blue, and was trimmed with plain dark blue. Her hat carried out the same colors, and she wore elbow gloves of white kid. She was one of the best dressed women in that fashionable assemblage. Yet when analyzed, there was nothing about her costume, except the harmony of it, to give this good air of style.

Another woman was the cause of much admiring comment in a Pullman by her smart dress. But here again, when analyzed, was only simplicity and harmony to create the good effect. She wore a black and white foulard, made with the narrow skirt, with a deep trimming of black about the bottom. Her hat was of black straw, trimmed simply with a smart bow in white.

Another dress much admired at the Casino at Narragansett Pier was a dark blue silk, pencil-striped in white, and with a dainty lingerie effect at neck and sleeves of hemstitched marquisette. The hat was a dark blue straw encircled with a snowy breast, and with two upstanding wings of the same downy feathers.

The good air of these costumes was due in each case to the harmony pervading them. From the crown of the hat to the tip of the shoe, there was not a jarring note. The dresses or the hats, if taken alone, would be considered by many women too simple. Yet it is this very simplicity, when it is right, that has so much to do with imparting chic.

Many a woman fears to be simple in her dress. She thinks she must add much trimming and ornament in order to be stylish. But this frequently destroys the very effect she is anxious to achieve. For with much trimming and ornamentation, inharmonious creeps in.

Study the costumes that appeal to you as smart, and see if they are not, in the main, quite simple and altogether harmonious.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

In Lieu of a Vacation.
It is not the good fortune of all toilers to have an annual vacation. Yet for the general well being of man it is necessary to cultivate the holiday spirit at times. If you cannot leave your work endeavor to make your free hours ones spent on the picnic order. Dismiss anxieties from your mind, eat your meals out of doors and sleep out of doors. A few really lazy hours out of the twenty-four will prove a boon to the man or woman whose tasks are of an exhausting variety.

If the trouble between Italy and Turkey gets real serious the probability is that the German Kaiser will interfere in behalf of Turkey. Doubtless German capitalists are owners of Turkish bonds and this may be sufficient cause for the Kaiser's interference. In consequence of this and other complications involving European powers it is hardly probable that a war could be confined to Italy and Turkey. Russia, Germany, England and France would all likely become involved in some way and the jealousy and conflict of interests between these nations would be a factor as it has been for many years to protect Turkey from being wiped off the map of Europe.

Reciprocity has failed for the time, and there is a possibility that the Conservative Government in Canada may be induced to put further futile barriers in the way of trade between the United States and the Dominion. But notwithstanding all artificial obstacles, annexation remains a geographical fact; the countries are so tied together that no effort of nation-builders and lawmakers can pull them apart. The uninterrupted peaceful and advantageous trading that has been going on for nearly 100 years, and which grows in bulk and material profit as the days go by, will still go on.

Disasters occur in all navies, but the French navy has had much more than its share of them, and an official report after the destruction of the Jena reflected severely upon the discipline and efficiency of the service.
The destruction of the Liberte is the most serious accident in the French navy since that of the Jena, also in the port of Toulon, about three and a half years ago. The loss of the Jena was attributed to spontaneous combustion. The loss of the Liberte was due to a fire which had been burning for half an hour when it reached the magazines. Besides these great explosions there have been a great many fatal accidents on the smaller vessels.

One Minister of Marine has retired on account of conditions in the service, and another may have to do the same.

It is not likely that the present high price of sugar in the United States can be maintained. The scarcity of raw sugar will soon be relieved by heavy importations on the way from Java and the rapid marketing of the home crops of beet and cane sugar, estimated at not less than $55,000 tons. The rise in prices will also lead to heavily diminished consumption. There will be hand-to-mouth trading until the first of the year, when the Cuban crop will become available. Besides these conditions there is just and reasonable apprehension upon the part of the Sugar Trust that Congress when it assembles will be pushed to early consideration of tariff reduction. It would be very bad policy on the part of the magnates to aggravate public hostility by pushing for higher prices, whatever speculative inducement there might be for such action.

STOCK AND CERTIFICATES

OF DEPOSIT WITH BUILDING AS-SOCIATIONS TAXABLE.

The Board of Review, after several weeks of inquiry, during which a large number of people were examined, and thousands of dollars in Building Association stock placed on the tax duplicate, is convinced that large numbers of our people do not understand that such stock is taxable. The fact is, Building Association stock and Certificates of Deposit with Building Associations are taxable in the name of the holder.
Heretofore, with the high tax rate, such stock and certificates have not been listed, because, if taxed, the holder could not realize any revenue from them; but since the enactment of the one per cent tax law, there can be no valid excuse for this class of personal property not being listed.
If this class of property is not listed this year, taxing authorities next year will be required under penalty of law to place the same on the tax duplicate with fifty per cent penalty.
If you have this kind of personal property you cannot afford to take the chance of not listing it for taxation. The tax rate will be very low, so low that you can afford to pay the tax, and so low that you cannot afford to run the risk of penalties, if you fail to list it.
From now on we shall be compelled to make a most thorough investigation into this kind of property, so please come to our office and give us the amounts you owned on April 3, 1911, rather than wait for us to cite you before us.

COUPLE DIVIDE PROPERTY AND AGREE TO PART

Mayor John M. Ankele and Juvenile Officer James S. Sheridan acted as mediators in the domestic difficulties of Henry Scholler and his wife.
The Advocate Tuesday published a story of the desertion of the children by Mrs. Scholler. Late in the day she returned from Mansfield, where she went Monday afternoon,
and sought an amicable settlement of the troubles.

Tuesday night Scholler and his wife met the mayor and the juvenile officer in the city building and the financial and property interests of the couple were divided, as were the children.
The couple agreed to a division of the furniture in their home. Mrs.
Scholler agreed to take the youngest child, yet a babe in arms, and the father took the two older children.
The husband gave the wife and mother $30 of his savings and kept $60 for himself. He will continue to live in Newark and will make arrangements for the care of the children.

Mrs. Scholler will take the baby and her portion of the property and go to Mansfield to make her home.
All efforts of Mayor Ankele and Officer Sheridan to bring about peace between husband and wife failed and the adjustment was resorted to as the only means of bettering the conditions for the children.

CHARGED WITH THEFT FROM THE WEBER COMPANY

Henry Scholler's troubles are coming in bunches.
Along with his police court and domestic difficulties which have occupied the attention of Mayor Ankele for the first three days of this week,
he is charged with theft.
An affidavit was filed before Mayor Ankele this morning charging him with the theft of $50 worth of property from the Weber Company, where he is employed.
The affidavit charges that he stole one Model 80 gas range, a quantity of nickel knobs, trimmings and stampings, black casting, pipe, gas valves, one steel urn and one cast urn.
He was placed under arrest about noon and is now in the city prison awaiting a hearing.

A BOY WHO SAW LEE'S SURRENDER

In Harper's for October, W. G. Beymer tells of the adventures of Charles Phillips of Richmond, a boy spy of the Civil War. Not the least interesting of these experiences is the tale of how the boy saw the great war ended.

"With the federal occupation there was at once government employment for the Phillips in the post quartermaster's department, work which to Charlie was a sharp and sudden contrast to the days of secret service—work that gave abundant promise of fast becoming routine, and that, too, while there was still fighting, desperate fighting, to the west of Richmond. He had gone everywhere on God's footstool for others, now just this once let him go some where for himself. He borrowed a horse from 'Uncle Samuel,' and rode off to his holiday. For the last time he would see a battle.

"He was hunting for it when he slowly rode into the little town of Appomattox; he had come too late for battles. He saw General Grant and a large party of officers ride up to one of the houses and enter. Scarcely knowing why, he lingered. The front yard and the roadway were filled with horses held by orderlies. 'General Lee's in there!' they told him. Some of the citizens of the town had come over to see what was going on. One or two of the bolder, perhaps friends of Wilmer McLean, the house-owner, went up on the porch, and then entered the hall and peeped into the room, which that day became historic. Charlie Phillips followed. He saw a small room crowded with officers; he saw General Grant seated at one table, at another General Lee. An officer to whom he had once carried a message recognized him and nodded. In his excitement the boy scarcely saw him. It is one of his most poignant regrets that he could never remember, which officer spoke to him. He dared take but one hurried look about the room, then tiptoed out into the yard again and waited. After a long time General Lee and another gray-clad officer came out, followed by the federals. The boy watched them ride away. It was over! He turned his own horse toward Richmond and rode, now sober, now exultant.

"It was late the next day when he reached the post quartermaster's office. He scarcely knew his father, who stood with a young federal lieutenant, talking and laughing like a man suddenly grown younger. His father's greeting was as though to a comrade.

"Where you been, Charlie?" and then, without waiting for an answer, 'Did you know about Lee's surrender?' The boy's rejoinder is the epitome of his service: "Sure!" he said. "I was there, I saw it."

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

ARE MAKING A SOIL SURVEY

The Wapakoneta News says: The Ohio Experiment Station of Wooster, which made the big exhibit at our county fair last year, is making a farm management survey of the state in co-operation with the office of farm management, United States Department of Agriculture and has decided upon Duchouquet township as the one which shall be used to represent Auglaize county.

The purpose of this survey is to determine the respective difficulties and advantages in connection with the types of farming that are followed in this section to determine which cropping systems are most commonly practiced and the effect of these on the fertility of the soil; to study the market conditions as affected by the various factors which exist in this community.

Representatives of the Experiment Station who will visit the farms in Duchouquet township will ask such questions as the following: The value of the land, machinery, and stock on hand March 1, 1911; the acreage and yield of each crop in 1910; the amounts of the 1910 crops sold and the receipts for same; the amount of live stock, milk, eggs, butter, etc., sold between March 1, 1910, and March 1, 1911, and the corresponding receipts; the expense for labor, seed, feed, machinery, threshing, etc., during this time.

The replies given will be considered strictly confidential while the information that is given will be used in making a report in the general conditions of farming in this section. Indications of farming will not be published or made public in any way. This study has nothing whatever to do with assessments or taxes and the replies will not be made available for use in that connection. It is for the purpose of agricultural study only that these figures are desired. Actual cash values should be given in all cases.

The study will be in charge of H. M. Dixon and will be made in the next few weeks.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Why the Snake Sheds His Skin

"We found a snakeskin out on the road today," said Jack, "and there wasn't any snake in it."

"Indeed," said daddy, "Mr. Snake had shed his skin. Didn't you know that snakes get new suits of clothes every year?"

Jack and Evelyn hadn't known this. "What makes them shed their skins, daddy?" asked the children.

"Well, I can tell you a book reason. The story is that long ago the owl and snake were great chums. They are not very friendly now. Owls, you know, eat some snakes. Well, one day the head of the owl family, old Grandfather Owl, who lived alone in a hollow tree, thought he would like some nice young person to live with him. He asked Mrs. Quail to let him have one of her children, but of course she said no. One day when she was out Grandfather Owl, who was a very bad old owl, went in and stole the youngest and smartest of the quails. He took the little bird home to the hollow tree, and he stretched the poor thing's bill and he stretched the poor thing's legs until it would really have been hard for its own mother to know it. But Mr. Mole, who lived under the hollow tree, knew, and he went and told Mrs. Quail what had become of her son. She waited until Grandfather Owl was out, and then she took her baby right home again. He did seem queer for a while, but his long legs and long bill, and the other little quails teased him about his looks. The little long-legged quail was so unhappy that he flew off to a big marsh, a place full of water and reeds and willow trees. 'I'm going to live here always by myself, and I'll call myself by a new name. It shall be snake.'"

"When old Grandfather Owl saw the little snake that had been a quail living in peace in the middle of the marsh the owl wanted to get the little quail and punish him for leaving the hollow tree, so he went to his friend the snake and asked him to drink the marsh dry. The owl and snake were too stupid to think about all the little birds that flowed into the marsh and would fill it faster than the snake could drink. The water didn't get any lower, but the owl told the snake to keep right on. At last the poor snake couldn't drink another drop. 'Oh,' groaned the snake; 'I feel just as if I would burst!' 'Burst then!' cried the owl crossly. 'Sure enough, the snake's skin split from head to tail. The owl, scared, flew away, and the snake crawled out of his old skin and hid in a dark, quiet hole. A lovely new skin grew in place of the old one, and, after all, the snake was so pleased that now all the snake family shed their skins."

Wash your clothes with GOLD DUST

Good soap washes clothes well—if you use enough elbow grease, but Gold Dust washes them more thoroughly—and with little or no rubbing. Gold Dust saves half your time, and spares your poor back.

Another great advantage of Gold Dust—use any kind of water you like. Gold Dust softens the hardest water, and makes it soft as rain water.

Gold Dust is just a vegetable-oil soap in powdered form, with other cleansing ingredients added to make it work more thoroughly and quickly than soap ever can.

Just try Gold Dust next wash-day, and see how much time you save.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

TO PREVENT CHINESE FLOODS

American Red Cross Engineer is Now in China Studying the Problem.

The present flood in the Yangtze River, in China, with the frightful loss of life and property which it has caused, makes especially timely the recent action of the American Red Cross in sending to China an expert engineer for the purpose of studying the best means of preventing the floods which repeatedly have caused such awful devastation in that country. This engineer, C. D. Jameson, reached China in July, and has been given a cordial welcome and all necessary assistance by the Chinese government. As Mr. Jameson formerly lived 16 years in China his familiarity with customs and conditions gives him a thorough preparation for his present important mission.

By the terms of its federal charter the Red Cross is charged with the duty of trying to prevent as well as relieve distress caused by disasters. In this instance the salary and traveling expenses of Mr. Jameson are borne by the Red Cross, while the Chinese government provides for all other expenses. Most of the great Chinese disasters which have so frequently shocked the world have been in the form of floods or famines resulting from the destruction of the crops by floods. The terrible famine for the relief of whose sufferers the world was called upon to give last winter, was caused in this way.

eral government to the United States Steel Corporation. Prior to the bear raids of the last three or four days millions upon millions have been made since January 1 by the same coterie of trading interests.

The financial district now knows that a good part of these enormous winnings have gone into the pockets of less than a score of big operators. It is certain that the $72,892 real stockholders in the big corporation were not the profit-takers and that men who sold short what they did not have really reaped the harvest at the expense of the real owners of the stocks. Henry C. Frick has been credited with realizing $10,000,000 profit in the deal.

As a curious feature of the situation, John W. Gates, although dead figured in the day's market developments. He left to his estate 25,000 shares of Steel stock, sold short of the market at $2, just one eighth of a point under the high mark of the year, which was made Feb. 5. The estate's profits on this transaction have already reached nearly $700,000.

Speculators and captains of industry, bankers and even some gentlemen of standing in Washington are reported big winners in the 1911 downward dip in stock prices. In 1903 J. Pierpont Morgan held the bag when the big slump occurred; in 1907 the Standard Oil crowd and the late Henry H. Rogers and Edward H. Harriman were caught napping, but this year, from all accounts, it is the "dear public" which is principally long on the stocks of the railroads and leading industrialists.

Official Wall street has seen the big slump coming for more than a year. The decisions of the United States supreme court in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases are months old. The Stanley committee investigating the Steel Corporation adjourned weeks ago. Many of the important insiders were aware of the gathering storm and added in concealing the truth by issuing the most optimistic interviews.

It follows that some very handsome profits should have been taken. William Rockefeller, brother of the oil king, is credited with having made from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, in association with Mr. Frick, while Mr. Rockefeller's two promising sons, William G. and Percy, are said to have made over $5,000,000 each trading on the short side of the market.

Edwin Hawley, the "little Harriman," had been riding his own stocks on the profits made from short sales against the leading market tumbler, while a newcomer in Wall street, Adolph J. Lieberman, a Chicago wheat speculator, is credited with having made between $5,000,000 and 6,000,000 since the slump set in. The winnings of Daniel J. Reid, the tin-plate magnate and inveterate bear, are not nearly as great as was at first believed, for the reason that Mr. Reid remained in Paris too long. That he has been on top of the market for seven fractions is joyously admitted by his friends, and Mr. Reid is still on the warpath. A certain United States senator is known to have sold 10,000 shares of Steel common at 70, and it was covered only yesterday.

A group of shrewd gentlemen, headed by William E. Corey, former president of the United States Steel Corporation, and including E. C. Converse, the banker, and Ambrose Monell, the nickel king, is reported to have profited from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 by the decline in stocks.

Others who are reported to have won well in the falling market are Otto Kahn, the banker; Eugene Scates, the cotton planter; Joe Galtens of Atlanta, Ga.; Bernard Baugh, the broker; George W. Perkins, the former partner of J. P. Morgan; George Blumenthal, associated with Lazard Freres; George F. Baker, the Morgan banker; James Stillman, the Rockefeller banker, and a score of others.

A good score is often effaceable where good advice fails.

M. E. CONFERENCE

so far as personal influence could reach, there be no recession of the tide. He urged the seriousness of personal responsibility and the need for fearless individual action.

"This earthly stuff,"

If used God's way, will be enough."

At the conclusion of Dr. Hare's address, Dr. P. A. Baker again spoke, discussing at length the conditions attending the efforts of which he is representative in this state. He described minutely the situation of the prohibition forces in the closely contested Maine election, and in the same connection spoke of somewhat similar conditions existing in other states, notably Texas. His address closed the evening's program.

The Wednesday morning session opened at 8 o'clock and at this time the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to the ministers and laymen in attendance. This administration of the sacrament was a befitting opening of an occasion marked by great solemnity throughout. The sacrament was administered by Bishop Earl Cranston, assisted by a number of attending clergymen.

Then Bishop Cranston directed the secretary of the last conference to call the roll, those in attendance responding as the name was called. The presiding officers of the conference were elected as follows:

Secretary, Rev. R. H. Stafford.
Assistant secretaries, Rev. Charles M. Hartshorn, Lloyd C. Strecker, J. Emory Walker.

Statistical secretary, H. K. Wilson. Conference treasurer, R. T. Stimmler. Following the opening service which consumed the greater part of the three-quarters of the hour assigned, the formal opening of the conference was held when Bishop Cranston introduced Judge C. W. Seward who, as representative of the laymen of the Methodist church and the citizenship of the city, delivered the address of welcome.

Judge Seward deviated from the theme of welcome to enter a bitter denunciation of liquor traffic. He told of the work accomplished by the congregations in the building of beautiful edifices of worship. The beauty and good quality of Newark's citizenship was touched upon, and this city's welcome was extended.

Bishop Cranston, as presiding officer, then called upon Rev. L. C. Sparks, who in the interest of the churches, extended the welcome in their behalf. He told of the pleasure of the presiding bishop, Bishop Earl Cranston, Bishop Cranston represented the Methodists of the United States at a discussion in the National Capital recently, and of his success and eminent work there. The hospitality of the Methodist minister and household was then extended.

REV. L. C. SPARKS,
Pastor of First M. E. Church.

as was that of the homes of the city. Politics were touched upon, in the urging of the election of members of city officialdom, who would be efficient in the upholding of the principles of the conference. Rev. Mr. Sparks here, and the wonderful results of that said that it had been thirty one years since the first conference was held here, and the wonderful results of that past conference were prayed for. Bishop Cranston followed Rev. Mr. Sparks and told of the pleasure felt in the cheery greetings extended, and said he wished to indulge for a few minutes in reminiscences. He remarked that many familiar faces were missing and that among those he recognized had undergone the marked changes of time. Bishop Cranston told of how he opposed entering the ministry. The first conference Bishop Cranston ever attended was at Fronton in 1867, and his first pastorate was at Whitney Chapel at Marietta. Here he encountered the friendship of David Moore, now Bishop Moore, and of the endurance of the friendship through the passage of time. Bishop Cranston's reminiscences were teemed with flashes of wit and the recounting of humorous situations. He asked that care be exercised that only justness be used in the reciting of Newark and her affairs, and that no action be taken or words spoken that might darken the fair name of the city. He then asked that spirituality mark the conference work and expressed a sincere wish that the result of this meeting would be an overflow and superabundance of grace to the entire community.

Bishop Cranston pleaded that gossip might not pervade the conference as no prediction could be made as to any appointments to be made. He told of many good appointments spoiled by the aftermath of gossip, as to the desirability of the appointees, the interference of laymen and ministers burdens the work of the bishops and the district superintendents. Bishop Cranston said that his idea of responsibility has been lightened with the thought that no more was expected of them than their best.

During the enforced short absence of Bishop Cranston, Bishop David Moore was in charge, and he introduced the Rev. J. C. Arbuckle, D.D., who after a short song service gave the memorial address.

Rev. Mr. Arbuckle read the names of the honored departed, naming the ministers and their wives. Rev. Mr. Arbuckle said, "That in the midst of life we are always in the midst of death." Death, after a Christian consideration, should be judged as rather a friend, an open door to better things. He said that there must be something immortal for time falls to satisfy.

One should not be alarmed at death for that has been provided by God as his preliminary for his reception to every man.

The address was filled with beautiful and exalted similes which beautified the tributes to the members of the conference who no longer responded to roll call. "Part of the host has crossed and part are crossing now."

The new names the year has brought are: Samuel Crosley, Columbus, 1910; J. Postal, Tronton, 1910; James N. Zuch; William B. Bennett, 1911; David Mann, Columbus, 1911.

The departed for the year numbered ten, five ministers, three active, two superannuated and five women.

The memorial service concluded by the singing by the congregation of "Faith of Our Fathers," and Rev. Mr. Jackson lead the prayer service.

The time was next given over to conference business. The secretary made several announcements, after which reports of the chairmen of the various committees were made.

Dr. Hartman was given a short time for the discussion of Sunday school work, he being a member of the Ohio State Board of Sunday schools. He spoke concisely of the Sunday school organization and of the determination of the board for missionary and extension work.

Bishop Moore introduced Rev. Henry L. Riston, a student of the University of Denver, which was instituted by Rev. Mr. Moore. Dr. Riston is a member of the New England Conference and a representative of the Ministers' Relief and Insurance Trust. He talked on the work and results of the trust.

A. M. Mann of the Marietta district, made a comprehensive and complete report.

Dr. Boswell of Philadelphia, of the Home Board of Missions and Church Extensions, made announcement of an address to be given by him this evening and urged an increased interest in the work of the board.

Motion was taken and carried for the noon adjournment daily at 12:15, and the bar of the conference was fixed as including the space facing the platform back to the third pillar.

Dr. Clark spoke on the Sunday school board work and interested as he is in the inter-denominational work he commended the Methodist Sunday school board work. He urged the Methodist board to join hands with the general workers and become leaders in the movement.

R. T. Stimmler made the report that Rev. Mr. Moore had a fund of $92 to be added to the Ohio Wesleyan fund.

Mr. Brunney of circulation department of the Advocate was heard urging the subscription of the Western Christian Advocate.

Bishop Moore spoke in behalf of Charles Creighton, a former member of the conference. Mr. Creighton has prepared a book "Law and the Cross," and Rev. Mr. Moore urged its purchase and perusal by the members of the conference.

Bishop Moore has presided at many conferences and was in attendance at this morning's session only expressed his pleasure at being able to attend.

Dr. Guilbert, editor of the Western Christian Advocate in a humorous way preluded his solicitations for the upholding of the publication which is so meritorious in its work and aim.

Rev. J. C. Arbuckle next made a motion that at 10:30 on Thursday the election for the delegates to the general conference be held, and the treasurer of the board of stewards took up some time cleaning up some business left over from last year's conference.

SENSATIONAL STORIES HURT CITY'S FAIR NAME

"The Girl and the Prince" company which made a dismal failure of its effort to entertain an audience at the Auditorium theatre Tuesday night were treated to a scare following the fall of the curtain on the last act when a crowd of disgusted victims surrounded the stage door and hooted and jeered the members of the company.

Fearing that they might be roughly handled if they ventured into the crowd, after putting up such a miserable effort at entertainment, the manager called up the police department for protection.

A sensational story wired to outside papers by an unreliable correspondent, was to the effect that the crowd assumed the proportions of a mob and attempted to assault the "actors" and destroy their scenery and that the entire police force was rushed to the scene with ambulances and patrol wagons and that a number of people were injured.

Police officials state that there was no violence and no indication that there was any danger to the theatrical people.

A squad of officers responded to the request and to quiet the fears of the "Girl" and the "Prince" and the supporting people they were escorted to their hotel.

According to the statement of those who saw the demonstration, it was more in the nature of a "kidding" match than of a mob bent upon doing the actors any personal injury.

As to the show, it was so poor that it was funny and the audience contented itself with ridiculing the efforts of the men and women on the stage. Manager England stated that the show was booked here with the understanding that it was a good company and that it had a good show. He learned later that the troupe had been on the road but a short time and for that reason nothing was known of the merits of the production.

The company has a stormy voyage before it and unless a vast improvement is noted in the cast and the play itself its voyage will end on the financial rocks.

AMUSEMENTS

WHAT THE PRESS AGENT SAYS

Last Night's Play.
An organization playing under the name of "The Girl and the Prince" played at the Auditorium theatre on Tuesday evening, and suffice it to say that it was positively the worst attempt ever seen in the city. The only thing to be admired was the magnificent nerve of a manager and a company (?) who would dare to appear before an audience.

The Fortune Hunter.
In the recollection of "The Fortune Hunter," which comes to the Auditorium Saturday, matinee and night, one is reminded that Winchell Smith has placed in the dialogue a great deal of sound philosophy. For instance, when Nat Duncan has refused to carry out the scheme when success is in sight, he says to his chum, Kellogg: "I had everything when I was at college, youth, health and all the money I wanted and lots of friends, and I thought I was a pretty lucky chap, but I know how you can beat that happiness to death." He pauses and then continues impressively: "Harry, the real way to be happy is to work, and have your work amount to something, and to have someone who believes in you, to work for. Call it what you will, preaching or not, it goes just the same. I found that out this year. There's philosophy for you when you analyze life."

Dante's Inferno.
The greatest picture play that has been presented the amusement world, its dramatic forcefulness holds an audience for hours, and it is said that its thrill is as great as any tragedy ever acted by living actors. No one, of course, need be told of the strength, poetic beauty, pictorial grandeur and dramatic quality of Dante's immortal comedy. It is one of genius-giving efforts of all literature, it holds the mind in thrall every moment is appealed to, and the sublimity of its pictures create a feeling of awe.

It was a daring thing to even attempt its illustration in moving photography, and even without seeing it one is prepared to admit that it costs its producers years to accomplish satisfactory results, and a good quarter of a million to complete the film. At the Auditorium theatre on Thursday and Friday evenings, Sept. 28 and 29.

Southern Theatre.
Messrs. J. W. & W. J. Dusenbury, proprietors of Olanthany Park, Columbus, have leased the Southern theatre in that city, and opened the theatrical season at that theatre on Sept. 25 with a high class stock company, which will produce the best plays during the coming winter season, giving performances every evening and regular matinees Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with a change of plays every week. Harry O. Stubbs is the general director of the company, which insures up-to-date presentations with all accessories and close attention to details. The entire company is composed of experienced artists, with a high standing in their profession.

SECOND ESCAPE FROM CONVENT BY A NEWARK GIRL

Rose Naylor, Aged 8, Sealed 12-Foot Wall and Comes Very Near Fooling Columbus Police.

Columbus, Sept. 27.—Prevarication is such an art with Rose Naylor, aged 8, of Newark, who escaped from the Convent of the Good Shepherd at Sandusky and West Broad streets, Tuesday morning, that she had the police believing her story for more than two hours and nearly evaded the authorities.

Only the wit of Matron Snapp prevented the girl being sent to Newark and discovered she had escaped from the convent. The girl was returned to the convent. Tuesday morning, after fighting and making an attempt to escape when behind the walls.

Tuesday morning was the second time in five days that the girl climbed the 12-foot wall at the institution and escaped. The first time she got out she met a woman and said that her mother had brought her here from Newark and deserted her. She did not get far, before she was taken back. On that occasion she displayed the remarkable wit to disguise herself by putting on a white dress over her convent uniform.

Tuesday morning, for the second time, she scaled the walls at the institution and ran away. She was met by a woman and to her untold joy the story that she had been left in Columbus by her brother who had gone back to Newark. The woman put her on a street car and she came to the police station. There she told the same story and said she wanted to go home. The police believed her and would have placed her on the eight o'clock car, but missed it.

Matron Snapp questioned the girl and picked a couple of slight flaws in her story. She grew suspicious and inquired if there had been any report of escapes from the convent. One was just coming in and inside of half an hour the girl, in the custody of the matron and Officer Baxter, went to the institution. The girl fought like a tiger and the officer had to pick her up and carry her in. As she was standing near a door in an inside room she made a dash for liberty but was caught before she managed to get away.

Rose Naylor mentioned in the above dispatch is the girl who escaped from the Good Shepherd convent last week and told the police that there was too much company in her home and that she had to get out.

It will be remembered that she told the police that she had been deserted in Columbus and her story was believed until juvenile officer James S. Sheridan investigated the matter here for the Columbus department.

The girl's parents state that she could not get along with her school mates and that she was not making satisfactory progress in school as a result. Hence they decided to send her to the Good Shepherd convent in Columbus.

The girl has now escaped twice from the institution and each time she has caused the police department some little trouble by the wild stories she has offered to explain her presence on the street.

School opened here September 4th with an increased attendance, there being 76 enrolled.

Dr. C. D. Watkins, son Charles and daughter Ruth left Saturday for an extended trip through the west.

Mrs. Hattie Predmore and children of Hanover visited at the home of her brother, H. J. Ritchey, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. David Kilmer spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. M. R. Eroll.

The Etina high school boys crossed bats with the Pataskala high school last Friday but met defeat in a good game, the score being 5 to 4. This ties the boys for the season, so that a warm game can be expected for their next meet.

The Lecture course here last year proved such a success, that many of the leading citizens met last Saturday evening and organized for the purpose of bringing some high class numbers for the coming winter. Prof. F. D. Riffey was elected president and Geo. W. Emswiler secretary and treasurer. William Wingert and wife spent Sunday at Columbus.

The many friends of Virgil Mauger were glad to learn that he was elected principal of the Hanover high school for the coming year.

Anyone wishing any pointers on how to teach the "three R's," or wield the birch might do well to call on Paul Kirts or Miss Edna Hutchinson, for they have an extended experience of one week each.

OHIO STATE FAIR A RECORD BREAKER

In dollars, entries, beauty of exhibits, good order, attractions, and number of people attending, the 1911 state fair broke records. Ohio's exposition is growing. There were 2646 more entries this year than last—not counting big increase in machinery displays.

There were 631 more entries in live stock, 2914 more entries in fruit and farm products, and 1439 more entries in Art and Woman's Work in 1911 than in 1910.

The ten members of the State Board of Agriculture are allowed actual expenses and get no pay. Many applications for space were refused as the fair has outgrown the grounds. Races were money-makers and more than paid for themselves. The National Guard police preserved best order in the fair's history.

The total fair receipts were above $90,000 which is high water mark.

The five per cent curse was eliminated. Common people always pay to see the fair, and this year the other fellow paid also. The board played no favorites and gave a square deal to all.

The public press, farm papers, Governor Harmon, Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, leading public and business men have commended doing away with free passes.

A. P. SANDLES, Secretary.

MUCH SEED IS IMPORTED INTO AMERICA

From Foreign Lands According to a Report of the National Department of Commerce.

Washington, Sept. 25.—A high record importation of twenty million dollars worth of flax seed in the fiscal year 1911 is indicated by the records of the Bureau of Statistics, department of commerce and labor, now completed for the ten months ending with April 1911. During that period the imports of flax seed or linseed, aggregated eight and one quarter million bushels, compared with a little over three million bushels last year and 53,000 bushels in the corresponding period of 1909. The growth in value is even greater, the ten months figures of the current fiscal year being sixteen and three-quarter million dollars, against five million in 1910 and but $73,625 in 1909. The estimated importation of twenty million dollars worth of flax seed in the fiscal year which ends with the present month exceeds by more than ten million dollars the value imported in 1909, is nearly eighteen million dollars above the record of 1901, and is by far larger than that of any other year. The Milk-Wagon Habit Madam, See What It Costs You

Mrs. Housewife—

Getting milk from the milkman is simply a habit, and millions of homes have outgrown it. There are hundreds of homes right around you who use nothing but Van Camp's.

Let us show what they gain, and how much you lose. This is a very important question.

Loss No. 1—Purity

Your milkman's milk isn't sterile. There are millions of germs in each drop. Sickness among children, in very large part, is caused by these germs in milk.

You know that. And you know the tendency toward pasteurized milk. That's the only real protection.

Van Camp's Milk is pasteurized. It is utterly sterile. There is not a single germ in a gallon.

Loss No. 2—Quality

Milkman's milk comes from all sorts of dairies, all sorts of cows. Van Camp's comes from model dairies and from Holstein cows.

We have dairies in seven states—each in the heart of a great dairying section. The cows are inspected—all milk is tested. Sanitation is a science in our plants. There is no finer milk in all the world than you get in each can of Van Camp's.

Loss No. 3—Richness

Milkman's milk separates quickly. The butter fat rises and the solids fall. Milk dipped from a can is never whole-milk. When that milk gets to the cooking it is rarely more than a half-milk.

Van Camp's is the whole-milk. The milk fresh from the cow is put into a copper vacuum. There, in moderate heat, we evaporate two-thirds of the water.

The milk as it comes to you is as thick as thick cream. It is 28 per cent solids, 8 per cent butter fat. It is so rich that folks always dilute it, even for coffee and cereals.

In cooking, this milk gives to milk dishes an amazing richness and flavor. Not because of any addition, for we add nothing at all. This is simply the whole, rich milk. But whole, rich milk will surprise you—you who are used to milk wagon milk. A single milk dish made with Van Camp's will forever convert you to the use of this milk. Until then, your neighbors are serving milk dishes twice as good as yours—all because of whole-milk.

Loss No. 4—Convenience

You buy from the milkman from day to day. You always must guess at your needs. When you get too much it is wasted. When you get too little you must go without. Think of the dishes you want, and can't make, because the milk supply is exhausted.

You can buy Van Camp's a month's supply at a time. It is like a cow in the pantry. Have milk and cream, all you want, when you want it. No waste whatever, for the opened can keeps until you use it up.

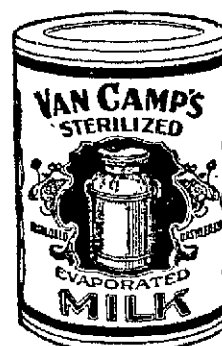

Loss No. 5—Money

The strangest fact is that this premier milk— from high-bred cows, from model dairies—sterile, rich and pure—costs less than milkman's milk.

We save you the cost of the daily delivery. That costs more than the milk. By evaporating the water we save transportation. And we save you all the waste. In the average home the use of Van Camp's cuts milk bills right in two.

Because of these facts, we are now milking 30,000 cows daily to supply the armies of people who are using Van Camp's.

The 16-oz. can—a full pint of Van Camp's—costs 10 cents. The 6-oz. can costs 5 cents. That's with two-thirds the water evaporated. Your grocer gets it direct from our nearest dairy.
